

Re: L-1B Intracompany Transferee Petition, Specialized Knowledge Consular Submission

Dear Applicant:

Please find your L-1B application materials enclosed. This letter contains additional information on the visa application process, as well as important information on how to maintain your status in the United States. Please keep this letter for your records, and do not submit it to the immigration officer with your application packet.

Completing your Application Packet

1. Insert the original DS-160 Confirmation Sheet and fee payment confirmation; and
2. If you were unable to submit your photograph electronically with your DS-160, attach a US passport-sized photograph.

Attend Visa Appointment

The enclosed application packet contains the materials you require to attend your visa appointment. Please bring the entire packet to your interview. Your packet consists of the following documents:

1. Form G-28, Notice of Entry of Appearance as Attorney or Representative, signed by your sponsoring employer;
2. Form I-129S, Nonimmigrant Petition Based on Blanket L Petition;
3. Petitioner Letter of Support;
4. Copy of L-1 Blanket I-797 Approval Notice; and
5. Supporting documentation.

In addition, please bring the following documents with you at the time of application submission:

1. Appointment confirmation page;
2. DS-160 submission page and fee payment receipt;
3. Credit card for payment of the $500 fraud prevention fee and any applicable reciprocity fees;
4. One US passport-sized photograph, unless submitted electronically with DS-160;
5. Original passport, with one blank page for issuance of the visa;
6. Any additional documents listed on the US Consulate's website (<http://www.usembassy.gov/>); and
7. If you have dependents who will be applying for an L-2 visa, they must provide marriage and/or long form birth certificates as evidence of their relationship to you, with a certified English translation, if applicable.

When you arrive at the Consulate, you will go through a series of security checks. Please do not bring any items other than those necessary for your application. In particular, you should leave all large bags and electronic devices (including cell/mobile phones) at your home or office, as these may not be permitted in the Consulate. Once you clear security, you will check in for your appointment. You should expect to wait at least 1-3 hours to meet with a consular officer.

You are applying under the L-1B visa category, which means that:

- There is a qualifying corporate relationship between your employer abroad and proposed US employer;
- You are coming to the United States to work in a specialized knowledge role; and
- You have been employed with a qualifying entity outside of the United States for at least one full year of the past three years in a specialized knowledge role.

Please review the documents enclosed in your application packet carefully so that you are prepared to explain your specialized knowledge duties to the consular officer. You should expect your visa interview to take no more than 10-15 minutes.

At the end of your visa interview, the officer will confirm whether your visa has been approved. If your visa has been approved, the consular officer will endorse Form I-129S in the top margin with an official stamp/seal and an annotation confirming the L-1B status validity period. You should receive your original passport containing the L-1 visa and the stamped Form I-129S back in approximately one week following the appointment.

If your status has not been approved, please inquire with the officer as to the reason and request the reason in writing, and contact Vialto Partners LLP to discuss the next steps.

Administrative Processing

Due to increased security measures, the Consulate may be required to run additional security clearances on your case, known as “administrative processing.” If your case is selected for administrative processing, your visa can not be issued until processing is complete. Administrative processing can take several weeks, however in some cases your visa issuance could be delayed for several months. Unfortunately, because administrative processing is considered a national security issue, we are unable to expedite the visa issuance process if your case undergoes additional security checks.

Due to the risk of administrative processing, we urge you to avoid booking non-refundable travel until you actually receive your passport and visa stamp.

Entering the United States Following International Travel

You may enter the United States pursuant to L-1 status up to 10 days in advance of your employment start date.

Each time you travel into the United States, you must present your valid visa and endorsed I-129S upon re-entry to the United States. We also recommend that you carry paystubs with you as evidence of your continued employment. The officer will stamp your passport as evidence of your entry into the United States.

You will receive a new I-94 record each time you enter the United States. It is your responsibility to check your I-94 record, and the I-94 record of your dependent(s) if applicable, after each entry to ensure that you have been admitted in the correct category and for the correct duration (should match I-129S or Approval Notice end date). Please advise us of any discrepancy. Please upload a copy of your new I-94 record after each international trip to myMobility.

Sometimes US immigration officials make errors upon admission relating to an I-94 expiry date or category of admission. In particular, we have noticed that an I-94 expiry date may be beyond the end date of the I-129S or Approval Notice, which is an issue that should be rectified. One cannot rely on any additional time past the I-129S or Approval Notice end date. As a result, it is important that you monitor the status of your I-94 record after each entry to ensure that you remain in valid status. Accordingly, we ask that you visit i94.cbp.dhs.gov after each trip, and upload your updated I-94 record so that we can continue to assist in monitoring your status. An error by a US immigration official, even if inadvertent, can have serious implications to your status in the United States if not addressed in a timely manner.

Printing off your I-94 will also be required for obtaining certain benefits (for example, social security card, driver's licenses, and other such benefits).

We also recommend that you carry your passport and corresponding immigration documents with you at all times while in the United States, in case you are subject to any type of police inspection.

Departing the United States Before International Travel

It is your responsibility to make sure that any departure from the United States will not impact your immigration status. Please contact your HR/Global Mobility team for assistance prior to your departure.

If you depart the United States to a country that is not your country of citizenship, even if it is only part of a layover flight, you may require a visa to enter that country. Therefore, prior to your travel, you must check the immigration requirements of the country you will be visiting or transiting through and, where required, take the necessary steps to obtain the appropriate visa. Please contact your HR/Global Mobility team for assistance prior to your departure.

Maintaining Your Status in the United States

Your stamped I-129S or Approval Notice, visa stamp, and I-94 record all play a critical role in helping you maintain your ability to work and travel while in the United States. After you enter the United States, please upload a copy of your I-129S, visa, and I-94 record to your secure file cabinet in myMobility. Without copies of these documents, we cannot notify you when an extension of your status will be required.

Your Form I-129S or Approval Notice controls your work authorization in the United States. In order to maintain your work authorization in the United States beyond the expiration date of this document, your employer must file for an extension of your status through the United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS), or you must file another visa application at the US Consulate under the Blanket process.

Your Visa stamp is a travel document that allows you to enter the United States following international travel. Your visa stamp does not have any effect on your status in the United States or your work authorization and does not need to be renewed unless you have international travel plans.

Your I-94 record controls your status in the United States. This is the single most important document for maintaining lawful work authorized status, and can never be a date that is beyond the end date of the endorsed I-129S or Approval Notice. This document must be valid/unexpired at all times while you are physically present in the United States. In order to maintain your status in the United States beyond the expiration date of this document, the US Petitioner must file for an extension of your status through US Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS), or you must file another visa application at a US Consulate in order to then receive a new I-94 record upon re-entry. Any error to your I-94 record, even an inadvertent error on the part of an Officer, could severely impact your current and future immigration status and employment eligibility.

Sometimes US immigration officials make errors upon admission relating to an I-94 expiry date, or category of admission. As a result, it is important that you monitor the status of your I-94 record after each entry to ensure that you remain in valid status. Accordingly, we ask that you visit <https://i94.cbp.dhs.gov/> after each trip, and provide us with your updated I-94 record so that we can continue to assist in monitoring your status.

Printing off your I-94 will also be required for obtaining certain benefits (for example, social security card, driver's licenses, and other such benefits). We also recommend that while in the United States, you carry your passport and visa documents with you at all times, in case you are subject to any type of police inspection (i.e. a traffic violation stop).

You must maintain a valid I-94 record at all times while in the United States. If at any time your I-94 expires (and an extension has not been filed on your behalf), you are no longer authorized to remain or work in the United States.

Visa Max Date

The maximum amount of time that you are permitted to be in the United States in L-1B status is 5 years from the date of your initial entry into the United States in L-1 status. This is your "visa max" date.

You can "recapture" any time you spend outside of the United States if your trip is longer than 24 hours. We therefore recommend that you keep a record of time spent outside the United States. Evidence of time spent outside of the United States may include: passport entry/exit stamps, airline ticket information/boarding passes, and I-94 records.

Note: the “Visa Max” limitation does not apply to individuals who do not reside continually in the United States, and whose employment in the United States is seasonal, intermittent, or consists of an aggregate of six months or less per year.

Changes in Employment

Current immigration regulations require that any material change to your employment in the United States be reported in advance of the change occurring. Accordingly, should there be any corporate reorganization during your time in the United States, or should your job duties change significantly, please notify Vialto Partners LLP in advance of any change occurring. Changes arising to the level of a material change may warrant an amendment to your L-1 status.

Obtaining a Social Security Number

Upon arriving in the United States, you will be eligible to receive a Social Security Number (SSN) if you have not already been issued a SSN in the past. We encourage you to review the procedure for obtaining a Social Security Number in advance at www.ssa.gov, as the procedure is subject to change. As part of the process, you will likely be required to produce evidence of your L-1 status, such as your I-94 record, L-1 visa, and/or stamped I-129S (if applicable).

Driving Under the Influence of Alcohol (DUI)

The Department of State (DOS) implemented a policy which allows consular officers to prudentially revoke nonimmigrant visas where the beneficiary has a prior arrest for driving under the influence of alcohol (DUI). The DOS clarified that this policy extends to a DUI arrest even if that arrest did not result in a conviction. However, the DOS noted that it would not revoke a visa if the DUI arrest was addressed in the context of the previous visa application.

Individuals applying for a new visa with a DUI arrest record, or traveling outside the United States with a new DUI record should contact us as we can best advise on future travels and your return to the United States.

Change of Address

If you change your address at any time while living in the United States, you are required to file Form AR-11 with the USCIS within 10 days of your move. You can change your address online at <https://egov.uscis.gov/coa/displayCOAForm.do>. In addition to updating your address with USCIS, please also ensure that you update your myMobility profile.

We wish you the best of luck at your visa interview. If you encounter any issues or have any questions, please do not hesitate to reach out.

Sincerely,
Vialto Partners LLP

Receipt Number WAC2122151227		Case Type I129 - PETITION FOR A NONIMMIGRANT WORKER
Received Date 05/10/2021	Priority Date	Petitioner ELI LILLY AND COMPANY
Notice Date 05/19/2021	Page 1 of 1	Blanket Petition

ELI LILLY AND COMPANY c/o KEVIN CROSBY AISTON FRAGOMEN DEL REY BERNSEN & LOEWY L 333 WEST WACKER DRIVE FLR 15 CHICAGO IL 60606	Notice Type: Approval Notice Class: Blanket Petition Valid from 05/19/2021 to Indefinitely (INDEF)

The above blanket petition is approved. Petition approval does not authorize the employment or training of any specific employee. When a worker is granted "L" nonimmigrant status based on this petition, he or she can work for the petitioner, but only as detailed in the individual Form I-129 or I-129S petition for the period authorized.

To include an individual employee as an intra-company transferee, the particular U.S. entity that wishes to employ the foreign worker should follow the instruction below that best fits the employee's situation.

If the employee is outside the U.S. and requires a visa, the U.S. entity that wishes to employ the foreign worker must complete Form I-129S, Nonimmigrant Petition based on Blanket L Petition. The employee must present the I-129S to an American consulate or embassy as part of an L-1 visa application.

If the employee is outside the U.S. and is visa exempt, the U.S. entity that wishes to employ the foreign worker must complete Form I-129S, Nonimmigrant Petition based on Blanket L Petition. If the employee is eligible under the U.S.-Canada Free Trade Agreement, the employee may present the I-129S directly at a U.S. port of entry as part of an application for admission in L-1 status. Otherwise, the U.S. entity should file the I-129S at the appropriate Service Center.

If the employee is in the U.S. in other than L-1 status and wishes to change status to L-1, the U.S. entity wishing to employ the foreign worker must complete a Form I-129, Petition for a Nonimmigrant Worker, and file it at the appropriate Service Center which processed the original blanket petition to request a change to L-1 status for the worker. These same requirements apply to a request for extension of stay on behalf of an employee who is currently in valid L-1 status.

The approval of this visa petition does not in itself grant any immigration status and does not guarantee that the alien beneficiary will subsequently be found to be eligible for a visa, for admission to the United States, or for an extension, change, or adjustment of status.

THIS FORM IS NOT A VISA AND MAY NOT BE USED IN PLACE OF A VISA.

Qualifying Relationship

Eli Lilly and Company (“Eli Lilly US”) in the United States and Eli Lilly Services India Private Limited (“Eli Lilly India”) in India hold a qualifying parent/subsidiary relationship in that Eli Lilly US wholly owns Eli Lilly India. As such, the entities are qualifying, related organizations pursuant to 8 CFR 214.2(l). Please refer to the enclosed documentation as evidence of the qualifying corporate relationship.

II. THE BENEFICIARY’S SPECIALIZED KNOWLEDGE QUALIFICATIONS AND EXPERIENCE ABROAD

The Beneficiary is well qualified to perform in the specialized knowledge position in the US by virtue of his qualifying employment with Eli Lilly India. The Beneficiary has acquired over two (2) years of professional experience within Eli Lilly's international operations, having joined Eli Lilly India in June 2021. The Beneficiary has held the qualifying position of Engineer I - Software Configuration & Development, where he provides his specialized knowledge and expertise on Pharmaceutical Analytics to deliver critical data-driven insights and solutions to enhance Eli Lilly's operational efficiency.

Our proprietary technologies and methodologies capture processes that encompass the organization's wide-ranging service offerings. These products, processes, and knowledge are shared across our company's global network, and are only known to our employees. The Beneficiary has specialized knowledge of the following:

Specialized Knowledge Tool	Description
Lilly Pharmaceutical Analytics	In the realm of pharmaceutical analytics, there exists a profound connection where cutting-edge analytics technology takes center stage as the fundamental methodology within the pharmaceutical sector. This advanced analytics technology equips professionals with a suite of powerful tools and techniques, enabling them to proficiently gather, process, analyze, and extract invaluable insights from pharmaceutical data. The result is an environment conducive to well-informed decision-making, revolutionary drug discoveries, optimization of clinical trials, and an elevated standard of patient care within the pharmaceutical industry. These analytics tools are highly specialized, tailored precisely to the unique requirements of Eli Lilly. They demand a distinct set of skills and expertise, necessitating specialized training to navigate an organization's proprietary data effectively. This specialized training initiative at Eli Lilly is an exclusive opportunity extended solely to a select group of skilled analytics professionals. The Beneficiary uses this specialized knowledge in this technology to streamline drug development, enhance patient care, and optimize operational efficiency within our organization, by collecting and integrating data from diverse sources, including clinical trials, patient records, and manufacturing processes, to build a robust data infrastructure. The Beneficiary gained this specialized knowledge through over two (2) years of Eli Lilly-specific trainings and critical project experience.

In the Engineer I - Software Configuration & Development role, the Beneficiary performs the following specialized knowledge duties:

- Influence team members, management, and business SMEs in the application of Advanced Automation and Analytics technical capabilities to inform business strategy, define architecture, and deliver valuable solutions.
- Establish effective relationships with LRL Tech at Lilly business partners, strategic vendors, and other Tech at Lilly teams to generate technical requirements and partner in the design and development of re-usable data products for downstream analysis and insights generation.
- Utilize business and technical skills to evaluate proposed project ideas, software designs, and/or technology changes (including vendor solutions) to drive business value outcomes and influence management decision-making.
- Propose new ways of approaching business solutions with technologies like AI/ML, MLOps.
- Prototype new ways of applying technologies to achieve the desired business outcomes.
- Educate others so that they can demonstrate the new ways/prototypes to achieve the desired outcomes.
- Educate the Tech at Lilly organization in Advanced Automation and Analytics technologies.
- Exploit internal and external professional relationships to improve the probability of successful Digital Development strategy execution.

In the Beneficiary's role abroad with Eli Lilly India, complex and highly specialized skills and expertise in our proprietary tools, technology, products, and operations were gained and leveraged on a regular basis, and as a result, the Beneficiary became one of the company's most experienced specialists involved in Pharmaceutical Analytics. This specialized knowledge has been developed through continuous and increasingly progressive employment, as well as extensive on-the-job and classroom training, including:

- AWS Analytics Workbench, a comprehensive two-month program;
- Azure AI, a three-week training program;
- Pharmacovigilance training, a weekly program designed to provide specialized knowledge and expertise in the pharmaceutical domain.

Training and/or certification in these components is not offered outside of our organization and only the most advanced professionals, such as the Beneficiary, have been given the opportunity to complete company-specific training and/or certification.

Notably, due to his specialized knowledge, the Beneficiary played a pivotal role in conceiving and spearheading the development of an advanced AI system for Eli Lilly's Global Patient Safety team. This innovative system was designed to comprehensively analyze structured data from tabular sources and autonomously generate concise, coherent summaries. Notably, this ground-breaking initiative marked Eli Lilly's inaugural foray into the realm of Genetic Artificial Intelligence (Gen-AI), a milestone that resulted in a significant reduction in manual processes and a remarkable 25% improvement in operational efficiency. Furthermore, this achievement culminated in the generation of approximately $1 million USD in global revenue.

As Eli Lilly US expands operations and continues to grow in the United States, knowledge of both the industry and client needs, product and solutions integration, and technical expertise is an extremely rare combination. The Beneficiary's expertise and specialized skillset are critically needed within the US operation to drive the expansion of our product and service offerings as well as implementation of our Pharmaceutical Analytics. The Beneficiary's transfer and integration into our US operations will also allow us to leverage his expertise and specialized knowledge of our products, technologies, and tools to drive the design, development, deployment, and optimization of Eli Lilly and Company's Insights team.

To complement this specialized knowledge, the Beneficiary also holds a Bachelor of Technology degree in Electronics and Communication Engineering from Maulana Abul Kalam Azad University of Technology, West Bengal, in India. This degree has been determined by a reliable credentials evaluation service, which specializes in foreign educational credentials, to be the equivalent to a Bachelor of Science in Electronics Engineering from an accredited college or university in the United States. Please see enclosed academic evaluation.

III. THE US ASSIGNMENT

At this time, we require the Beneficiary's services in the United States to utilize his specialized knowledge and experience to improve our operations, and to impart this knowledge to our US local staff.

In the United States, the Beneficiary's role of Engineer I - Software Configuration & Development is critical to our operational success and continuity. As such, those holding the role are required to have specialized technical or highly advanced knowledge of our products, technologies, methodologies, and tools to perform all aspects of designing, developing, deploying, and optimizing our services and solutions. As Engineer I – Software Configuration & Development, the Beneficiary will be responsible for leveraging his expertise to transfer knowledge to our US teams in implementing data driven solutions to improve our operational efficiency.

More specifically, the Beneficiary will carry out the following specialized knowledge duties, which mirror those listed above:

- Influence team members, management, and business SMEs in the application of Advanced Automation and Analytics technical capabilities to inform business strategy, define architecture, and deliver valuable solutions.

- Establish effective relationships with LRL Tech at Lilly business partners, strategic vendors, and other Tech at Lilly teams to generate technical requirements and partner in the design and development of re-usable data products for downstream analysis and insights generation.
- Utilize business and technical skills to evaluate proposed project ideas, software designs, and/or technology changes (including vendor solutions) to drive business value outcomes and influence management decision-making.
- Propose new ways of approaching business solutions with technologies like AI/ML, MLOps.
- Prototype new ways of applying technologies to achieve the desired business outcomes.
- Educate others so that they can demonstrate the new ways/prototypes to achieve the desired outcomes.
- Educate the Tech at Lilly organization in Advanced Automation and Analytics technologies.
- Exploit internal and external professional relationships to improve the probability of successful Digital Development strategy execution.

The Beneficiary was specifically selected to work in this role because he is one of Eli Lilly's most sophisticated specialists within his group and his skillset is required to support the success and growth of our US operations. Based on this, the Beneficiary is being brought to the US to provide specialized and/or advanced expertise to our US operations. This specific expertise and the specialized skills were acquired through working with our proprietary tools, services product delivery and solutions, methodologies and technologies as well as our internal operational practices for at least one year.

Further, the Beneficiary is expected to use his specialized knowledge to help develop our US operations, providing expertise to our US operations on the service offerings and methodologies employed by our qualified organizations abroad. The Beneficiary is well qualified to provide precisely this kind of specialized knowledge support for our organization in the United States.

IV. REMUNERATION, LOCATION & DURATION OF WORK IN THE UNITED STATES

The Beneficiary will be required to work from our US office or client site as outlined in the enclosed application and will be under the control and supervision of our organization at all times. He will further be remunerated as attested in the enclosed application for the duration requested.

V. CONCLUSION

The Beneficiary has been selected as the ideal resource for the position of Engineer I - Software Configuration & Development with Eli Lilly US. Based upon the Beneficiary's proposed specialized knowledge responsibilities and the aforementioned qualifying experience with Eli Lilly India abroad, we respectfully request your favorable consideration of the enclosed application.

Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact the undersigned or our legal counsel, Vialto Partners LLP. We thank you for your consideration of this request.

ACADEMIC EVALUATION

September 05, 2023

Name: UTSAV SINHA

Institution: Maulana Abul Kalam Azad University of Technology

Degree: Bachelor of Technology

Date of Award: May 3, 2017

Country: India

Academic Equivalent in the United States:

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN ELECTRONICS ENGINEERING

Graduation from high school and competitive entrance examinations are required for admission and enrollment in the Maulana Abul Kalam Azad University of Technology; the Maulana Abul Kalam Azad University of Technology is an accredited institution of higher learning in India. Following enrollment in the University, Utsav Sinha completed academic coursework and examinations in 2016 and was awarded a Bachelor of Technology in 2017. The diploma is evidence that Utsav Sinha completed the required four years of coursework for candidates for the Bachelor of Technology.

Utsav Sinha completed specialized coursework in their area of concentration, Electronics and Communication Engineering, which leads to a degree from the University. Additionally, Utsav Sinha completed a general studies curriculum, which includes coursework in English, Mathematics, the Sciences, and the Social Sciences. The courses completed and the number of credit hours earned indicate that Utsav Sinha satisfied requirements substantially similar to those required toward the completion of academic studies leading to a university degree from an accredited institution of higher education in the United States.

The Electronic Database for Global Education (EDGE), maintained by the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers (AACRAO), an international cohort of more than 11,000 educators and higher education officials, was queried as part of the preliminary research informing this evaluation. The EDGE reference guide catalogues United States equivalence standards for credentials issued by institutions of higher learning around the world. EDGE's India page offers credential advice for the Bachelor of Technology awarded to the beneficiary, and this advice informs the conclusions of this evaluation.

On the basis of the credibility of the Maulana Abul Kalam Azad University of Technology, the number of years of coursework, the nature of the coursework, the grades earned in the coursework, and the hours of academic coursework, it is the judgment of Park Evaluations that Utsav Sinha has attained the equivalent of a Bachelor of Science in Electronics Engineering from an accredited institution of higher education in the United States.

In addition, as stated above, the credential advice offered in the AACRAO EDGE database informs and supports the major conclusions of this evaluation. The equivalence of the totality of the beneficiary's academic background has been checked for parity with the latest international equivalence research and data, wherever possible. This information supports the conclusion that Utsav Sinha has completed the equivalent of a Bachelor of Science in Electronics Engineering from an institution of higher learning in the United States.

This evaluation relies upon copies of the original documents provided by Utsav Sinha and represented by Utsav Sinha to be authentic and true copies of those documents. There are no apparent grounds for us to disbelieve the authenticity of the documentation presented to Park Evaluations on behalf of Utsav Sinha. We represent the foregoing to be an accurate and correct evaluation to the best of our knowledge and belief, pursuant to requirements of the United States Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) of the United States Department of Homeland Security (DHS).

Park Evaluations evaluates academic and experiential credentials and specializes in the evaluation of foreign educational credentials.

Receipt Number WAC2122151227		Case Type I129 - PETITION FOR A NONIMMIGRANT WORKER
Received Date 05/10/2021	Priority Date	Petitioner ELI LILLY AND COMPANY
Notice Date 05/19/2021	Page 1 of 1	Blanket Petition

ELI LILLY AND COMPANY c/o KEVIN CROSBY AISTON FRAGOMEN DEL REY BERNSEN & LOEWY L 333 WEST WACKER DRIVE FLR 15 CHICAGO IL 60606	Notice Type: Approval Notice Class: Blanket Petition Valid from 05/19/2021 to Indefinitely (INDEF)

The above blanket petition is approved. Petition approval does not authorize the employment or training of any specific employee. When a worker is granted "L" nonimmigrant status based on this petition, he or she can work for the petitioner, but only as detailed in the individual Form I-129 or I-129S petition for the period authorized.

To include an individual employee as an intra-company transferee, the particular U.S. entity that wishes to employ the foreign worker should follow the instruction below that best fits the employee's situation.

If the employee is outside the U.S. and requires a visa, the U.S. entity that wishes to employ the foreign worker must complete Form I-129S, Nonimmigrant Petition based on Blanket L Petition. The employee must present the I-129S to an American consulate or embassy as part of an L-1 visa application.

If the employee is outside the U.S. and is visa exempt, the U.S. entity that wishes to employ the foreign worker must complete Form I-129S, Nonimmigrant Petition based on Blanket L Petition. If the employee is eligible under the U.S.-Canada Free Trade Agreement, the employee may present the I-129S directly at a U.S. port of entry as part of an application for admission in L-1 status. Otherwise, the U.S. entity should file the I-129S at the appropriate Service Center.

If the employee is in the U.S. in other than L-1 status and wishes to change status to L-1, the U.S. entity wishing to employ the foreign worker must complete a Form I-129, Petition for a Nonimmigrant Worker, and file it at the appropriate Service Center which processed the original blanket petition to request a change to L-1 status for the worker. These same requirements apply to a request for extension of stay on behalf of an employee who is currently in valid L-1 status.

The approval of this visa petition does not in itself grant any immigration status and does not guarantee that the alien beneficiary will subsequently be found to be eligible for a visa, for admission to the United States, or for an extension, change, or adjustment of status.

THIS FORM IS NOT A VISA AND MAY NOT BE USED IN PLACE OF A VISA.

Dear Adjudicator,

We write in support of our application for the issuance of an L-1B Intracompany Transferee visa on behalf of the above-mentioned Beneficiary.

The information provided in this support letter will establish that Eli Lilly and Company and Eli Lilly Services India Private Limited, both meet the qualifications required for L-1B classification under Section 101(a)(15)(L) of the Immigration and Nationality Act and 9 FAM 402.12-7:

- Eli Lilly and Company, the US petitioning entity, has a qualifying corporate relationship with the overseas employer, Eli Lilly Services India Private Limited;
- The Beneficiary has worked abroad for the overseas company continuously for at least one (1) year during the three (3) years immediately preceding the filing of this L-1B application;
- The Beneficiary was employed by the overseas employer in a qualifying position during that period; and
- The Beneficiary will be employed in a specialized knowledge position in the United States with the US petitioning entity.

I. THE PETITIONER

Founded in 1876, Eli Lilly and Company is a leading innovation-driven pharmaceutical corporation headquartered in Indianapolis, Indiana. We employ approximately 35,000 people worldwide, with nearly 7,600 employees engaged in research and development. We are a leader in pharmaceutical industry research and development, with approximately 25% of our sales dedicated to research and development. Eli Lilly and Company manufactures and distributes its products through owned or leased facilities in the United States, Puerto Rico, and 8 other countries, conducts clinical research in more than 55 countries, and markets its medicines in approximately 120 countries. In 2020, Eli Lilly and Company experienced total revenue of approximately $24.54 billion.

Qualifying Relationship

Eli Lilly and Company (“Eli Lilly US”) in the United States and Eli Lilly Services India Private Limited (“Eli Lilly India”) in India hold a qualifying parent/subsidiary relationship in that Eli Lilly US wholly owns Eli Lilly India. As such, the entities are qualifying, related organizations pursuant to 8 CFR 214.2(l). Please refer to the enclosed documentation as evidence of the qualifying corporate relationship.

II. THE BENEFICIARY’S SPECIALIZED KNOWLEDGE QUALIFICATIONS AND EXPERIENCE ABROAD

The Beneficiary is well qualified to perform in the specialized knowledge position in the US by virtue of his qualifying employment with Eli Lilly India. The Beneficiary has acquired over two (2) years of professional experience within Eli Lilly's international operations, having joined Eli Lilly India in June 2021. The Beneficiary has held the qualifying position of Engineer I - Software Configuration & Development, where he provides his specialized knowledge and expertise on Pharmaceutical Analytics to deliver critical data-driven insights and solutions to enhance Eli Lilly's operational efficiency.

Our proprietary technologies and methodologies capture processes that encompass the organization's wide-ranging service offerings. These products, processes, and knowledge are shared across our company's global network, and are only known to our employees. The Beneficiary has specialized knowledge of the following:

Specialized Knowledge Tool	Description
Lilly Pharmaceutical Analytics	In the realm of pharmaceutical analytics, there exists a profound connection where cutting-edge analytics technology takes center stage as the fundamental methodology within the pharmaceutical sector. This advanced analytics technology equips professionals with a suite of powerful tools and techniques, enabling them to proficiently gather, process, analyze, and extract invaluable insights from pharmaceutical data. The result is an environment conducive to well-informed decision-making, revolutionary drug discoveries, optimization of clinical trials, and an elevated standard of patient care within the pharmaceutical industry. These analytics tools are highly specialized, tailored precisely to the unique requirements of Eli Lilly. They demand a distinct set of skills and expertise, necessitating specialized training to navigate an organization's proprietary data effectively. This specialized training initiative at Eli Lilly is an exclusive opportunity extended solely to a select group of skilled analytics professionals. The Beneficiary uses this specialized knowledge in this technology to streamline drug development, enhance patient care, and optimize operational efficiency within our organization, by collecting and integrating data from diverse sources, including clinical trials, patient records, and manufacturing processes, to build a robust data infrastructure. The Beneficiary gained this specialized knowledge through over two (2) years of Eli Lilly-specific trainings and critical project experience.

In the Engineer I - Software Configuration & Development role, the Beneficiary performs the following specialized knowledge duties:

- Influence team members, management, and business SMEs in the application of Advanced Automation and Analytics technical capabilities to inform business strategy, define architecture, and deliver valuable solutions.
- Establish effective relationships with LRL Tech at Lilly business partners, strategic vendors, and other Tech at Lilly teams to generate technical requirements and partner in the design and development of re-usable data products for downstream analysis and insights generation.
- Utilize business and technical skills to evaluate proposed project ideas, software designs, and/or technology changes (including vendor solutions) to drive business value outcomes and influence management decision-making.
- Propose new ways of approaching business solutions with technologies like AI/ML, MLOps.
- Prototype new ways of applying technologies to achieve the desired business outcomes.
- Educate others so that they can demonstrate the new ways/prototypes to achieve the desired outcomes.
- Educate the Tech at Lilly organization in Advanced Automation and Analytics technologies.
- Exploit internal and external professional relationships to improve the probability of successful Digital Development strategy execution.

In the Beneficiary's role abroad with Eli Lilly India, complex and highly specialized skills and expertise in our proprietary tools, technology, products, and operations were gained and leveraged on a regular basis, and as a result, the Beneficiary became one of the company's most experienced specialists involved in Pharmaceutical Analytics. This specialized knowledge has been developed through continuous and increasingly progressive employment, as well as extensive on-the-job and classroom training, including:

- AWS Analytics Workbench, a comprehensive two-month program;
- Azure AI, a three-week training program;
- Pharmacovigilance training, a weekly program designed to provide specialized knowledge and expertise in the pharmaceutical domain.

Training and/or certification in these components is not offered outside of our organization and only the most advanced professionals, such as the Beneficiary, have been given the opportunity to complete company-specific training and/or certification.

Notably, due to his specialized knowledge, the Beneficiary played a pivotal role in conceiving and spearheading the development of an advanced AI system for Eli Lilly's Global Patient Safety team. This innovative system was designed to comprehensively analyze structured data from tabular sources and autonomously generate concise, coherent summaries. Notably, this ground-breaking initiative marked Eli Lilly's inaugural foray into the realm of Genetic Artificial Intelligence (Gen-AI), a milestone that resulted in a significant reduction in manual processes and a remarkable 25% improvement in operational efficiency. Furthermore, this achievement culminated in the generation of approximately $1 million USD in global revenue.

As Eli Lilly US expands operations and continues to grow in the United States, knowledge of both the industry and client needs, product and solutions integration, and technical expertise is an extremely rare combination. The Beneficiary's expertise and specialized skillset are critically needed within the US operation to drive the expansion of our product and service offerings as well as implementation of our Pharmaceutical Analytics. The Beneficiary's transfer and integration into our US operations will also allow us to leverage his expertise and specialized knowledge of our products, technologies, and tools to drive the design, development, deployment, and optimization of Eli Lilly and Company's Insights team.

To complement this specialized knowledge, the Beneficiary also holds a Bachelor of Technology degree in Electronics and Communication Engineering from Maulana Abul Kalam Azad University of Technology, West Bengal, in India. This degree has been determined by a reliable credentials evaluation service, which specializes in foreign educational credentials, to be the equivalent to a Bachelor of Science in Electronics Engineering from an accredited college or university in the United States. Please see enclosed academic evaluation.

III. THE US ASSIGNMENT

At this time, we require the Beneficiary's services in the United States to utilize his specialized knowledge and experience to improve our operations, and to impart this knowledge to our US local staff.

In the United States, the Beneficiary's role of Engineer I - Software Configuration & Development is critical to our operational success and continuity. As such, those holding the role are required to have specialized technical or highly advanced knowledge of our products, technologies, methodologies, and tools to perform all aspects of designing, developing, deploying, and optimizing our services and solutions. As Engineer I – Software Configuration & Development, the Beneficiary will be responsible for leveraging his expertise to transfer knowledge to our US teams in implementing data driven solutions to improve our operational efficiency.

More specifically, the Beneficiary will carry out the following specialized knowledge duties, which mirror those listed above:

- Influence team members, management, and business SMEs in the application of Advanced Automation and Analytics technical capabilities to inform business strategy, define architecture, and deliver valuable solutions.

- Establish effective relationships with LRL Tech at Lilly business partners, strategic vendors, and other Tech at Lilly teams to generate technical requirements and partner in the design and development of re-usable data products for downstream analysis and insights generation.
- Utilize business and technical skills to evaluate proposed project ideas, software designs, and/or technology changes (including vendor solutions) to drive business value outcomes and influence management decision-making.
- Propose new ways of approaching business solutions with technologies like AI/ML, MLOps.
- Prototype new ways of applying technologies to achieve the desired business outcomes.
- Educate others so that they can demonstrate the new ways/prototypes to achieve the desired outcomes.
- Educate the Tech at Lilly organization in Advanced Automation and Analytics technologies.
- Exploit internal and external professional relationships to improve the probability of successful Digital Development strategy execution.

The Beneficiary was specifically selected to work in this role because he is one of Eli Lilly's most sophisticated specialists within his group and his skillset is required to support the success and growth of our US operations. Based on this, the Beneficiary is being brought to the US to provide specialized and/or advanced expertise to our US operations. This specific expertise and the specialized skills were acquired through working with our proprietary tools, services product delivery and solutions, methodologies and technologies as well as our internal operational practices for at least one year.

Further, the Beneficiary is expected to use his specialized knowledge to help develop our US operations, providing expertise to our US operations on the service offerings and methodologies employed by our qualified organizations abroad. The Beneficiary is well qualified to provide precisely this kind of specialized knowledge support for our organization in the United States.

IV. REMUNERATION, LOCATION & DURATION OF WORK IN THE UNITED STATES

The Beneficiary will be required to work from our US office or client site as outlined in the enclosed application and will be under the control and supervision of our organization at all times. He will further be remunerated as attested in the enclosed application for the duration requested.

V. CONCLUSION

The Beneficiary has been selected as the ideal resource for the position of Engineer I - Software Configuration & Development with Eli Lilly US. Based upon the Beneficiary's proposed specialized knowledge responsibilities and the aforementioned qualifying experience with Eli Lilly India abroad, we respectfully request your favorable consideration of the enclosed application.

Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact the undersigned or our legal counsel, Vialto Partners LLP. We thank you for your consideration of this request.

Respectfully submitted,
Eli Lilly and Company

Receipt Number WAC2122151227		Case Type I129 - PETITION FOR A NONIMMIGRANT WORKER
Received Date 05/10/2021	Priority Date	Petitioner ELI LILLY AND COMPANY
Notice Date 05/19/2021	Page 1 of 1	Blanket Petition

ELI LILLY AND COMPANY c/o KEVIN CROSBY AISTON FRAGOMEN DEL REY BERNSEN & LOEWY L 333 WEST WACKER DRIVE FLR 15 CHICAGO IL 60606	Notice Type: Approval Notice Class: Blanket Petition Valid from 05/19/2021 to Indefinitely (INDEF)

The above blanket petition is approved. Petition approval does not authorize the employment or training of any specific employee. When a worker is granted "L" nonimmigrant status based on this petition, he or she can work for the petitioner, but only as detailed in the individual Form I-129 or I-129S petition for the period authorized.

To include an individual employee as an intra-company transferee, the particular U.S. entity that wishes to employ the foreign worker should follow the instruction below that best fits the employee's situation.

If the employee is outside the U.S. and requires a visa, the U.S. entity that wishes to employ the foreign worker must complete Form I-129S, Nonimmigrant Petition based on Blanket L Petition. The employee must present the I-129S to an American consulate or embassy as part of an L-1 visa application.

If the employee is outside the U.S. and is visa exempt, the U.S. entity that wishes to employ the foreign worker must complete Form I-129S, Nonimmigrant Petition based on Blanket L Petition. If the employee is eligible under the U.S.-Canada Free Trade Agreement, the employee may present the I-129S directly at a U.S. port of entry as part of an application for admission in L-1 status. Otherwise, the U.S. entity should file the I-129S at the appropriate Service Center.

If the employee is in the U.S. in other than L-1 status and wishes to change status to L-1, the U.S. entity wishing to employ the foreign worker must complete a Form I-129, Petition for a Nonimmigrant Worker, and file it at the appropriate Service Center which processed the original blanket petition to request a change to L-1 status for the worker. These same requirements apply to a request for extension of stay on behalf of an employee who is currently in valid L-1 status.

The approval of this visa petition does not in itself grant any immigration status and does not guarantee that the alien beneficiary will subsequently be found to be eligible for a visa, for admission to the United States, or for an extension, change, or adjustment of status.

THIS FORM IS NOT A VISA AND MAY NOT BE USED IN PLACE OF A VISA.

II. THE BENEFICIARY’S SPECIALIZED KNOWLEDGE QUALIFICATIONS AND EXPERIENCE ABROAD

The Beneficiary is well qualified to perform in the specialized knowledge position in the US by virtue of his qualifying employment with Eli Lilly India. The Beneficiary has acquired over two (2) years of professional experience within Eli Lilly's international operations, having joined Eli Lilly India in June 2021. The Beneficiary has held the qualifying position of Engineer I - Software Configuration & Development, where he provides his specialized knowledge and expertise on Pharmaceutical Analytics to deliver critical data-driven insights and solutions to enhance Eli Lilly's operational efficiency.

Our proprietary technologies and methodologies capture processes that encompass the organization's wide-ranging service offerings. These products, processes, and knowledge are shared across our company's global network, and are only known to our employees. The Beneficiary has specialized knowledge of the following:

Specialized Knowledge Tool	Description
Lilly Pharmaceutical Analytics	In the realm of pharmaceutical analytics, there exists a profound connection where cutting-edge analytics technology takes center stage as the fundamental methodology within the pharmaceutical sector. This advanced analytics technology equips professionals with a suite of powerful tools and techniques, enabling them to proficiently gather, process, analyze, and extract invaluable insights from pharmaceutical data. The result is an environment conducive to well-informed decision-making, revolutionary drug discoveries, optimization of clinical trials, and an elevated standard of patient care within the pharmaceutical industry. These analytics tools are highly specialized, tailored precisely to the unique requirements of Eli Lilly. They demand a distinct set of skills and expertise, necessitating specialized training to navigate an organization's proprietary data effectively. This specialized training initiative at Eli Lilly is an exclusive opportunity extended solely to a select group of skilled analytics professionals. The Beneficiary uses this specialized knowledge in this technology to streamline drug development, enhance patient care, and optimize operational efficiency within our organization, by collecting and integrating data from diverse sources, including clinical trials, patient records, and manufacturing processes, to build a robust data infrastructure. The Beneficiary gained this specialized knowledge through over two (2) years of Eli Lilly-specific trainings and critical project experience.

In the Engineer I - Software Configuration & Development role, the Beneficiary performs the following specialized knowledge duties:

- Influence team members, management, and business SMEs in the application of Advanced Automation and Analytics technical capabilities to inform business strategy, define architecture, and deliver valuable solutions.
- Establish effective relationships with LRL Tech at Lilly business partners, strategic vendors, and other Tech at Lilly teams to generate technical requirements and partner in the design and development of re-usable data products for downstream analysis and insights generation.
- Utilize business and technical skills to evaluate proposed project ideas, software designs, and/or technology changes (including vendor solutions) to drive business value outcomes and influence management decision-making.
- Propose new ways of approaching business solutions with technologies like AI/ML, MLOps.
- Prototype new ways of applying technologies to achieve the desired business outcomes.
- Educate others so that they can demonstrate the new ways/prototypes to achieve the desired outcomes.
- Educate the Tech at Lilly organization in Advanced Automation and Analytics technologies.
- Exploit internal and external professional relationships to improve the probability of successful Digital Development strategy execution.

In the Beneficiary's role abroad with Eli Lilly India, complex and highly specialized skills and expertise in our proprietary tools, technology, products, and operations were gained and leveraged on a regular basis, and as a result, the Beneficiary became one of the company's most experienced specialists involved in Pharmaceutical Analytics. This specialized knowledge has been developed through continuous and increasingly progressive employment, as well as extensive on-the-job and classroom training, including:

- AWS Analytics Workbench, a comprehensive two-month program;
- Azure AI, a three-week training program;
- Pharmacovigilance training, a weekly program designed to provide specialized knowledge and expertise in the pharmaceutical domain.

Training and/or certification in these components is not offered outside of our organization and only the most advanced professionals, such as the Beneficiary, have been given the opportunity to complete company-specific training and/or certification.

Notably, due to his specialized knowledge, the Beneficiary played a pivotal role in conceiving and spearheading the development of an advanced AI system for Eli Lilly's Global Patient Safety team. This innovative system was designed to comprehensively analyze structured data from tabular sources and autonomously generate concise, coherent summaries. Notably, this ground-breaking initiative marked Eli Lilly's inaugural foray into the realm of Genetic Artificial Intelligence (Gen-AI), a milestone that resulted in a significant reduction in manual processes and a remarkable 25% improvement in operational efficiency. Furthermore, this achievement culminated in the generation of approximately $1 million USD in global revenue.

As Eli Lilly US expands operations and continues to grow in the United States, knowledge of both the industry and client needs, product and solutions integration, and technical expertise is an extremely rare combination. The Beneficiary's expertise and specialized skillset are critically needed within the US operation to drive the expansion of our product and service offerings as well as implementation of our Pharmaceutical Analytics. The Beneficiary's transfer and integration into our US operations will also allow us to leverage his expertise and specialized knowledge of our products, technologies, and tools to drive the design, development, deployment, and optimization of Eli Lilly and Company's Insights team.

Based on this, the Beneficiary is being brought to the US to provide specialized and/or advanced expertise to our US operations. This specific expertise and the specialized skills were acquired through working with our proprietary tools, services product delivery and solutions, methodologies and technologies as well as our internal operational practices for at least one year.

Further, the Beneficiary is expected to use his specialized knowledge to help develop our US operations, providing expertise to our US operations on the service offerings and methodologies employed by our qualified organizations abroad.
